Weather.

It is difficult to make the average intellect understand or comprehend how it is that a corn field or a cabbage or a cau-brilliant and prosperous session it has ever liflower-patch is greatly benefitted by enjoyed. plants in dry weather, and especially if there is a total absence of weeds and the surface is not only dry, but powdery and last session. dusty. . But such is the fact, and under our climate, in a summer of average dews, it is believed by many to be possible not | Washing, at $1.50 only to make a good crop of corn, but Lights, at 60c. cabbages, without a drop of rain from Matriculation and Incidental Fee...... June to October if only the soil is stirred about the plants two or three times week ly or oftener. But the stirring should be shallow in very dry and excessively hot weather, the object being to bring fresh earth to the feeding roots and not too much to wound or disturb them. When the soil is saturated with moisture, and the temperature is high and sustained the plow may be run both deep and close to the corn rows; or cabbages may be hoed down to the cost of half their feeding roots, provided they are hilled up with moist of fresh earth; and both corn and cabbage will be invigorated by the operation.

In the case of stirring the earth often in dry weather; the benefit derived by the plants is believed to be not only from the unperceived manure in the soil, but from the nitrogen therein, fresh earth; whether dry or wet, bringing new supplies of available nitrogen, and benefitting the plants accordingly.

After three wet and cool summers, we seem to have fallen on a dry and if not a hot one; and if a summer drought and an early frost shall hereafter appear in the order of the day, let nobody be sur prised. The sudden cessation about the middle of June of the rainfall over a vast stretch of corn-growing country, and the incoming of bright weather, has already very seriously threatened the outcome of the corn crop, and it behooves those having corn growing to make the most of it; that is, in dry weather to keep the plows going as long as it is possible to use them. And so of and stir it often; and much of the injury

A young Scotchman, and shepherd, Mr. Charles Scott, of Howford-Ettrick, Selkirkshire, Scotland, made the discovwas a sure remedy for the fever of ewes, produced from bad lambing. In the last issue of the Farmers' at any time of the year. The cars run daily Chronicle (London, England,) this gen- areth. tleman gives his experience with the Terms per annum for the Higher Course of remedy, and cites several very hopeless cases that were speedily cured by the treatment. The first symtom of puerperal fever is dullness and increase of milkflow; the latter condition may be known from lamkin showing signs of hunger. No time should be lost when these symtoms appear. The remedy should be applied at once after this manner: Pour into the uterus carbolic acid, one part; olive oil, two parts, and bathe the outside well with the mixture. It is well to notice carefully the condition of ewes for three days after lambing, and if found to be dropping, with signs of inflammation of uterns, apply same remedy, but in weaker solution, and repeat every ten hours. Puerperal fever is a common affliction, particularly with young ewes, and heretofore has proven fatal in a large majority of cases, and this discovery should have the attention of sheepraisers. - Minnesota Farmer.

What the Birds Accomplish

The swallow, swift, and nighthawk are, the guardians of the atmosphere. They check the increase of insects that other wise would overload it. Wodpeckers, flycatchers protect the foliage. Blackbirds, crows, thrushes, and larks protect the surface of the soil. Snipe and wood cock protect the soil under the surface. Each tribe has its respective duties to perform in the economy of nature, and it TASSAR is an undoubted fact that, if the birds were all swept off the face of the carth, man could not live upon it; vegetation would wither and die; insects would be- For the Higher Education of Women. come so numerous that no living thing could withstand their attacks. The wholesale destruction occasioned by grasshoppers, which have lately devastated the West, is undoubtedly caused by the thinning out of the birds, such as grouse, prairie hens, etc., which feed upon them. The great and inestimable service done to the farmer, gardener, and florist by the birds is only becoming known by experience. Spare the birds and save your fruit; the little corn and fruit taken by them is more than compensated by the quantities of noxious insects they destroy. How Long Will the Forests Last?

Under such a yearly heavy drain, the question naturally comes up, how long will our forests hold out at the present rate of manufacture? It is really an important question, upon which follows! the inquiry as to what we are to do for building material when this magnificent first-class. Charges very moderate. the inquiry as to what we are to do for wood-pine-is exhausted. One authority after another has entered formally Jy31-2m upon its solution, with satisfactory re sults in local instances, but very vague ENTENARY ones as to the field at large. At the rate we are cutting it to-day, thirty to fifty years seem to be agreed upon as the limit.

Twenty years ago there was apparently no limit, for the consumption was not fessors. All branches of preparatory and computed to the consumption of the consumption was not fessors. It seems | s as if it were impossible to further improve the machinery of saw-mills, but the near future may, for all that, see sawing machinery, in comparison to which that of the present will be contemptible. So, although twenty years ago there was no seeing the end of the timber, now, with the modern mills and myriads of them, we are beginning to learn with dire cersainty as to the time when the "wooden age" will be a thing of the past.

To Freshen Flowers.

Flowers nearly always begin to fade and droop after being kept for twenty hours in water, a few may be revived by substituting fresh, but all may be restored by the use of hot water. For this purpose place the flowers in scalding water, deep enough to cover about one-third of the length of the stems. By the time this is cold the flowers will have become erect and fresh. Then out off the stema and put EDUCATIONAL.

Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, ronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of

Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health. This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is equistantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects. Dr. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass., Reactions and Analytical Chemists.
